Also served as delegate of Sierra Leone to the following United Nations bodies: the Special Committee on the Review of the Charter and on the Strengthening of the Role of the Organization; the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL); the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space; the United Nations Programme of Assistance in the Teaching, Study, Dissemination and Wider Appreciation of International Law.

Has represented Sierra Leone at many plenipotentiary conferences, including the United Nations Conference on the Succession of States in Respect of Property, Debts and Archives, and was a signatory of the Convention; the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS III) and Chairman of the African Group at the Conference. In that capacity, he was closely associated with the elaboration of some of the key provisions of the resulting Convention. He was a signatory of the Convention.

As a member of the International Law Commission, he has been an active participant and contributor to the codification and progressive development of such important international legal instruments as the Draft Code of Crimes against the Peace and Security of Mankind; Treaties between States and International Organizations and between International Organizations, the Jurisdictional Immunities of States and their Property; the Law of State Responsibility; the proposed Statute of an International Criminal Court; and the Law of the Non-Navigational Uses of International Water Courses; the draft articles on most-favoured-nation clauses; the draft articles on the status of the diplomatic courier and the diplomatic bag not accompanied by diplomatic courier, and of the optional protocols thereto.

He has made contributions to other areas of major interest of international law, including the Law of Self-Determination, Human Rights Law, International Humanitarian Law, and the peaceful settlement of disputes, and has written and lectured on these subjects. He presently serves as an expert on the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) at Geneva on the implementation of and respect for international humanitarian law. He has delivered lectures on all of these topics in many countries, including Cameroon, Canada, China, Ethiopia, Germany, India, Malta, Norway, Sweden and the United Republic of Tanzania.

He has participated in conferences, symposiums and seminars on international law, including those held by the International Ocean Institute (Malta and Halifax, Nova Scotia); the International Law Institute (Hawaii); the International Criminal Jurisdiction (Talloires); the International Institute of Higher Studies in Criminal Sciences; Centre for International Studies, New York University School of Law; the Asian-African Legal Consultative Committee. He also served as external examiner in international law for Ph.D. candidates of the University of Dalhousie, Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada.

V. Publications

He presented a thesis to the University of London on the "Settlement of Territorial and Boundary Disputes in Africa", a subject of renewed theoretical and practical importance to the world community today. Additionally, he has written and published articles on the law of the sea, the exclusive economic zone, antarctica, mercenaries, human rights, international humanitarian law and the law of humanitarian intervention.

VI. Membership of professional organizations

He is a member of the American Society of International Law and a member of the Planning Council of the International Ocean Institute (Halifax and Malta). Judicial experience

A. Uganda judicial service

Justice of Appeal, Court of Appeal of Uganda, 1978-1981
Judge of the High Court of Uganda, 1974-1978

7. Served as one of the first three Justices of Appeal of the Court of Appeal (now called the Supreme Court) of Uganda, from 1978 until early retirement to join the United Nations in 1981. The Supreme Court is Uganda's final court of appeal in civil and criminal matters and functions as the constitutional court of final resort. It is the successor to the Eastern Africa Court of Appeal, which was shared between Uganda, Kenya and the United Republic of Tanzania until 1978.

8. Before elevation to the Supreme Court, served as a Judge of the High Court of Uganda from 1974 to 1978. The High Court is a court of record with unlimited original and appellate jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters:

- Author of several landmark judgments in civil and criminal cases, aimed at development of a Uganda Common Law Tradition by adaptation of the English Common Law to take account of the diverse and largely unwritten cultural and social mores of the Ugandan people administered as Customary Law. Many of these judgements are reported in the Uganda and East Africa Law Reports, and are often cited in the Courts for the legal principles fashioned from diverse legal systems.

- In a series of cases, promoted the reevaluation of the definition and application, in traditional societies, of the common law concept of mens rea and common purpose in murder cases, when accused relies on defences rooted in traditional beliefs. Developed the concept of the right of "occupancy" in respect of traditional land tenure to reconcile the idea of the common trust in customary law and the fee simple absolute. The cases in which some of these principles have been incorporated are summarized in: "Autochthony - The development of law in Uganda" New York Law School Journal of International and Comparative Law, No. 5 (1983), p. 1.

B. Practice of law

Senior and Principal State Attorney, Department of Public Prosecutions, Ministry of Justice, 1968-1971

State Attorney, 1966-1968

9. Admitted to practise law in Uganda in 1966. Practised as State Attorney and later Senior and Principal State Attorney from 1966 to 1971; supervised a team of lawyers in the Department of Public Prosecution (DPP) reviewing criminal charges and conducting criminal prosecutions throughout the country. Personally conducted several criminal prosecutions in complex cases in the High Court, and argued appeals before the Court of Appeal in East Africa in complex criminal appeals. Cases argued are reported in the Eastern Africa Law Reports.

As Senior Principal State Attorney, was responsible for representing the State in major criminal cases before the High Court and Court of Appeals from 1966 to 1971.

C. Law reform

Director of Law Development Centre, 1971-1974

10. In 1971, entrusted with direction and governance of the Law Development Centre (LDC), Uganda's leading research and law reform institution. Set up by Statute with responsibilities for development of Uganda Law, and conduct training courses for lawyers, law enforcement officials and magistrates. LDC conducts, in particular, the post-graduate Bar Course and Magistrates Course and publishes the Uganda Law Reports and other legal periodicals. The Bar Course, which is in its twenty-first year, is conducted in simulated law practice models, including legal drafting, counselling and moot courts.
